While every cartoon is not for every child, these seem to be some of the better options where children can learn something more valuable.

Feel free to omit the ones not suitable for you and your child. This is not all of the better options but I believe it's a step in the right direction.

There are options out there, we just have to look a bit harder. Just ask yourself, what does this show teach my child, what can they learn from watching it? The answer to that question will tell you if the show is appropriate for your child.

Happy watching.

Enjoy.
